

FLY-TIPPING

IS A CRIME

Next time, Mo will #ThinkTwice before dumping her rubbish for someone else to clean up!

She had some bags of rubbish and old household items she wanted to get rid of, so decided to leave it in the alleyway at the back of her house. Environmental Enforcement Officers found the rubbish, and Mo was fined £400 for fly-tipping.

Mo didn't realise that leaving rubbish in the alleyway was actually fly-tipping. Waste can end up being blown around as litter, encouraging rats, maggots and flies. Let's hope Mo will #ThinkTwice before dumping rubbish and instead use the council tip to dispose of her household waste for free!

If you dump your waste illegally, you could be fined.

Just ask Mo.
